CyberHound Announces Partnership with Christian Schools Australia

CyberHound is thrilled to announce the renewal of its national relationship with - Christian Schools Australia.

Christian Schools Australia is one of Australia's most respected networks of Independent schools nationally.

CyberHound has worked with Christian Schools Australia (CSA) for many years and this partnership reaffirms it's commitment to support member schools right across their network.

Mr Stephen O'Doherty, CEO of Christian Schools Australia said, "We have worked alongside CyberHound for nearly 10 years and have been delighted with the relationship. They have delivered real value to our schools – in financial terms as well as through the unique cybersafety capabilities they provide".

"CyberHound is committed to the continual development of their clever technology solutions. They are even more committed to the positive difference they can make across the school environment, from protecting students from online harms through to the early detection of students at risk," he said.

"I have found them to be professional at all times and to take a long term view in building their relationships and customer base. When I have asked them for special assistance with particular school needs I have been delighted by their response. They are continually innovating with new features designed for schools. They have been a good fit for us, and I would commend them to others looking to build a long term relationship with a provider of excellent solutions," Mr O'Doherty said.

John Fison, CEO of CyberHound said, "We have enjoyed a long relationship with Christian Schools Australia and very pleased to reaffirm this commitment and support.

Over the last 17 years we have helped hundreds of schools across Australia, delivering benchmark cybersafety to staff and students and enabling digital leadership in the classroom. We are committed and focused on continuing to innovate our solution to benefit Australian schools."

Christian Schools Australia is a peak group serving the diverse needs of a large network of independent Christian schools nationally. Christian schools provide comprehensively for the educational and spiritual development of their students.

CyberHound is the leading innovator in cybersafety and digital learning enablement technologies in Australia and the largest education focused provider of its kind.

To find out how your school can benefit from this partnership please contact info@cyberhound.com or call Tony Dempsey, Director of Communications, on 1300 737 060.